LIN204H1F English Grammar
Midterm Assessment Answers Ver. 2

Part I: True or False

Instructions: Write T(rue) or F(alse) in the underlined space next to each question.

_T_ 1. Conversion can be viewed as a type of derivation.
_T_ 2. A reciprocal pronoun and its antecedent must be in the same clause.
_F_ 3. Personal pronouns only mark person, number, and gender.
_T_ 4. Morphology can be defined in terms of a field of study and as a property of language.
_F_ 5. In suppletion, a morpheme is replaced by an entirely different morpheme in order to indicate a change in word class.
_F_ 6. Mental grammar is the knowledge that a speaker has of a language.
_T_ 7. A verb is always finite if it is the only verb in a sentence.
_F_ 8. Descriptivism catalogs the properties of a language (as it should be spoken).
_T_ 9. The predicate is everything outside of the subject.