SOC100 Midterm Sample Question ANSWER:

Important note before reviewing this answer: the wording of this answer is based on the specific details of the course materials, putting them in my own words (and not a verbatim from the notes). You will likewise be expected to include writing in your own words, and not from your notes. More importantly, you are not permitted to use any direct wording from this answer key as part of your midterm answer. Students using the notes or this answer key on the midterm test will be flagged and receive a 0.

Note that the answer does not provide any citations. You are not expected to include citations in your answers because it is expected that you are exclusively using the course lectures and readings to inform your answers. You are not permitted to use any additional sources of information for your answers, so there is no need to provide any citations with the expectation that you are only using the course materials. Any outside detail included in your answer that was not discussed in class will have a negative impact on your mark.

Below is an example of what an answer could look like, but there are a few important details to clarify about using this answer as a template to help you prepare for the midterm.
